The upbringing of today's younger generation and its outcome reflects social and personal behoof. Good upbringing not only brings joy, happiness, spiritual and economic wealth to the family, but also has great political and spiritual significance for the society.

Another important condition for human development is the mental and intellectual maturity of the younger generation. Today, it is gratifying that this process has risen to the level of state policy. This urges us to work more productively today than yesterday, tomorrow than today. After all, caring for the next generation, striving to raise a harmoniously developed generation is a peculiarity of our national characteristics.

As we focus on the national and traditional education system, every teacher or parent has a process of educating their child or student with their creativity, creating new ideas, a new way of thinking and a new way of looking at each social situation and this method could be seen as the fundamental foundation of every field or branch.

The concept of competence and creativity emerged in the world education system and was introduced into the education system. The application of world experience in personal creativity and competence in our country began in the years of independence. Competence and creativity is the knowledge and purposeful creativity of students in a particular field, which directly plays an important role in educating creative youth.

The development of students' creativity is a guarantee of the intellectual wealth of the country, the development of divergent thinking through the education of creative individuals is a key issue in today's pedagogy.

Educating students as qualified professionals, humanists who comprehend the essence of the social, economic, political, spiritual and cultural tasks carried out in the process of strengthening the independence of our country, the moral basis of self-awareness, preparation for independent creative activity in future specialities with the goal of developing logical thinking, team management skills, finding their place in life, self-determination, confidence in the future, the future of our country, the greatness of their achievements in all areas. Strengthening the independence of our country, the fate of socio-economic, legal education and other reforms, building a great future for our country depends on the level of spiritual and moral education of citizens, especially the younger generation, high consciousness, social activism. Since then, the state has been paying special attention to the issues of spiritual and moral education as one of the priorities of state policy.

We all understand and feel the need for vigilance and caution in today's complex environment, where various threats and spiritual attacks are aimed at poisoning the minds of young people. Today, the perception of immorality as a culture and, conversely, as a relic of the past, disregarding the original spiritual values, poses a serious threat to today's development, human life, the sanctity of the family and the nature of youth. They are realizing how important it is to fight such attacks, which are spreading like wildfire.

That is why it is important to organize educational activities among young people and take measures to prevent them from being influenced by foreign ideas. Educational work has always been relevant in the life of society. That is why Abdulla Avloni, a passionate educationalist of the 20th century, said, "Education is for us a matter of life or death, salvation or destruction, happiness or disaster." The fact that educational work has become a priority at the state level in our country is a proof of the importance of educating young people in our society as spiritually mature, strong, knowledgeable and highly thoughtful personnel. The role of the family and neighborhood in educating young people is essential.

Upbringing is a very complex and multifaceted process, and the education of young people, their role in the process of social life is growing significantly today. Participation in various circles is important for young people to become active subjects of social and legal relations in their future lives. The formation of spirituality in young people is one of the most dominant and complex tasks.

The upbringing of students initiates with the family. Especially in the Uzbek family, human qualities such as kindness, respect for parents, devotion to their duties, love for the motherland are formed in the family. In order to grow as a person in the spiritual formation, the parents must have all-round knowledge, spiritual, political and legal knowledge. At the same time, parents should use their knowledge to show the right and clear way, to put positive thinking in the right direction. It should be noted that in no other country in the world is the attention paid to young people, including students, the opportunities and conditions created for them as systematic as in our country. Therefore, the urgent task of today is to study and disseminate cooperation and specific experiences in education, especially in the spiritual and educational spirit of students.
